Among the other diseases which can be related to the presence of HPV, we have noted genital papillomatosis in 55 patients followed at the outpatient clinic between 1980-1984. According to our study: 1) the genital papillomatosis is the leading affection with HPV; 2) there is a predominance of males for this affection; 3) the benignity was always definitive, the malignancy was exceptional in this affection. The prognosis of the benign forms cannot be foreseen from the onset. The investigations should begin because of the frequency of this affection, the absence of any sign which places it among the differential diagnoses and because the presence of genital HPV is a sign of neoplasia, in the absence of any other etiopathogenic factors.During the 2016 election, the joke was that the country was preparing for a magical king who would solve all of its problems. The joke was on us; the magic king was Donald Trump. What does Trump mean for the media? That's an increasingly troubling question to me these days. Does the current President's authoritarian tendencies of not tolerating the media's critical coverage of his administration and withholding press credentials to the news organizations he has a personal beef with amount to "Caging the Press?" Or is it just a way for the president to shore up his dwindling base while responding to legitimate public outrage? The public screams of "Fake news!" at the media get played out on a daily basis, both in broadsides to the press and the media's strict policing of press conferences and White House briefings. An incorrect tweet by President Trump is now a federal crime. The media is under investigation by the FBI and the Justice Department for their coverage of the Trump campaign. The way in which some
