graphics/video development 1D2D3D3DQ: PHP $_SERVER variable contains "localhost", how come it isn't taken from the host file? I'm just trying to display the IP address of the user visiting the site to my users in the middle of an application. However $_SERVER['REMOTE_ADDR'] always returns the value 127.0.0.1, which is the value I'm seeing from the command: "host 127.0.0.1" Why is $_SERVER['REMOTE_ADDR']

NOT including the values in the host file

(C:\Windows\System32\drivers\etc\hosts)? A: 127.0.0.1 is only mentioned in the hosts file if you bind the loopback interface to 127.0.0.1 on your machine. If you are using a router or DNS there is nothing saying 127.0.0.1 is reserved for loopback. A: If there's no localhost entry for 127.0.0.1 then it falls back to 'lo' (loopback) address which you can always view in your browser with 'about:blank' address.
You could also try listing all hosts in the file to see if there is some weird alias for 127.0.0.1. As noted by Bierun though, 127.0.0.1 is just a funny way of referring to loopback address (the address of the application running on the same machine). Q: Proving that the lower sum is bounded for all convex (sub-)linear functions I am trying to prove the following: Let  $f, g: [0, \infty) \rightarrow \mathbb{R}$  be two convex (sub-)linear functions such that  $f(0) + g(0) = 0$ . Prove that  $\inf_{x \in \mathbb{R}} \frac{f(x)}{g(x)} \geq -1$ . I first tried to prove that
